

Where next from a Biocontrol Producers Association

David Cary Executive Director IBMA

Human health and our environment

Human health and our environment more and more are justifiably a focus of concern when approving and renewing PPPs

Biocontrol tools should still be tested rigorously

Mixed messages

Human health risks from b.cerius spp should be accounted for by appropriate methods.

Products with safe history of use and solid data should not be compromised

learn to live with nature not against it

IGOs and European Institutions all say we should green agriculture

FAO, OECD and the EU all have greening initiatives. In Europe the SUD and the EU Sustainable Plant Protection 40 point implementation plan are but two of these

learn to live with nature not against it

Conundrum

How do we deal with unknown unknowns?

Isn't this beyond reach of science and when dealing with naturally occurring substances with a long history of safe use should this be our focus?

Thank you for the opportunity for participating
